

Special Issue on Fiscal and Monetary Policy

Call for Papers

Monetary policy is a term used to refer to the actions of central banks to achieve macroeconomic policy objectives. Fiscal policy is a collective term used to refer to the tax and spending policies of the governments. They are both used to pursue policies of higher economic growth or controlling inflation. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Fiscal and Monetary Policy.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Fiscal and Monetary Policy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Supply of money
- Interest rates
- Government spending
- Taxation
- Budget deficit
- Inflation
- Credit crunch
- Federal reserve

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Industrial Economics and Sustainable Development” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	April 26th, 2023
Publication Date	June 2023

Guest Editor:

Scientific Research
Open Access

American Journal of Industrial and Business Management

ISSN Online: 2164-5175

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at ajibm@scirp.org.