

Special Issue on Cosmetic Chemistry and Science

Call for Papers

Cosmetics refers to certain substances which can be applied on any part of the human body surface, such as skin, hair, fingernails, lips and teeth, by spreading, spraying or other similar methods to achieve cleansing, maintenance, beauty, grooming and changing the appearance, or to modify the human odor and maintain good smell with perfumes. According to their functions, cosmetics can be divided into general cosmetics (also known as non special cosmetics) and special cosmetics. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Cosmetic Chemistry and Science.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Cosmetic Chemistry and Science. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Cosmetic compositions
- Human and in vitro safety testing
- Cosmetic ingredients
- Aesthetic surgery
- Cosmetic restoration
- Cosmetic products
- Cosmetic science and technology
- Interactions with cosmetic ingredients

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Cosmetic Chemistry and Science” should be selected during your submission.
