

Special Issue on Behavioral Psychology

Call for Papers

Behavioral psychology is the study of how our behaviors relate to our mind. The researchers and scientists who study behavioral psychology are trying to understand why we behave the way we do and they are concerned with discovering patterns in our actions and behaviors.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Behavioral Psychology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Affect, behavior, and cognition
- Behaviors analysis
- Patterns of behaviors
- Behavior therapy
- Assessment and intervention
- Positive/negative reinforcement
- Motivation
- Addition
- Social behavior
- Anxiety and behavior
- Interpersonal behaviors
- Personality and behavior changes
- Behavior and mental health
- Psychology and behavioral economics
- Psychology of leadership
- Organizational behavior management
- Childhood and adolescent behavior
- Behavioral psychology in education

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Behavioral Psychology” should be chosen during your submission.
