

Special Issue on Health Psychology and Health Promotion

Call for Papers

Health Psychology and Health Promotion is an interdisciplinary field that focuses on the relationship between psychological factors and health outcomes. This research area explores how behavioral, social, and psychological factors can influence physical health, and aims to develop interventions and campaigns to promote health and prevent disease. Health Psychology also investigates the impact of chronic and acute health conditions on psychological and social wellbeing, and aims to develop strategies to enhance patients' quality of life. Health Promotion seeks to empower individuals and communities to adopt healthy behaviors, and to create environments that support health and wellbeing.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Health Psychology and Health Promotion. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Health behaviors and mental health
- Cognitive and affective bases of health behaviors
- Behavioral and lifestyle medicine
- Health behaviors and promotion
- Mental disorders and psychotherapy
- Mental health interventions
- Physical and mental health
- Rehabilitation psychology
- Stress management
- Assessments and evaluations
- Promotion of cognitive health
- Mental health and well-being
- Health psychology and quality of life
- Chronic illness and mental health
- Psychology in pain management
- Psychology of disability
- Health psychology and aging
- Population health psychology
- Psychosocial factors and health

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission.

Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Health Psychology and Health Promotion” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	August 17th, 2023
Publication Date	October 2023

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office
psych@scirp.org