

Special Issue on Emotion, Behavior and Psychological Study
Call for Papers

"Emotion, Behavior and Psychological Study" refers to the study of the interplay between emotions, behavior and psychology. This field focuses on how emotions influence behavior and the underlying psychological processes that govern such interactions. Research in this area investigates the different types of emotions, their expressions and how they are regulated. It also examines how emotions affect cognitive processes such as attention, memory, and problem-solving. Additionally, studies in this field investigate the impact of emotions on social interactions and relationships, including how emotions can either facilitate or hinder effective communication and collaboration. Overall, the goal of this field is to deepen our understanding of the role of emotions in human behavior and to develop strategies for managing and regulating emotions in various contexts.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Emotion, Behavior and Psychological Study. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Emotion and psychological mechanisms
- Emotion on learning and memory
- Emotion and motivation
- Emotions and decision making
- Emotional development and emotional intelligence
- Emotion recognition and social skills
- Mood disorders
- Cognitive behavioral therapy
- Emotion, behavior and well-being
- Emotional regulation and coping mechanisms
- Emotions, behaviors and mental disorders
- Positive emotions, virtues, and strengths on well-being
- Personality traits, emotions, and behavior
- Cultural factors

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – *Emotion, Behavior and Psychological Study” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	April 18th, 2024
Publication Date	June 2024

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office
psych@scirp.org