Thank you for the comments and reviews provided.

It seems that our objectives have been misunderstood. We just wanted to discuss the appearance of a possible change of hydrological trend that, of course, has to be confirmed with future data.

Given the paper seems to need a lot of improvement, and that we have failed to explain our main goals, we will do further work on the paper. We will consider all the constructive suggestions made by the referees and, due to the fact that this will take a
