

Laws and policies to contrast and prevent Gender-Based Violence Against Women

A comparative analysis between
Spain and Italy (1993-2015)

Stellamarina Donato
LUMSA University of Rome, Italy

Women's Studies

VERNON PRESS

Copyright © 2023 Vernon Press, an imprint of Vernon Art and Science Inc, on behalf of the author.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior permission of Vernon Art and Science Inc.
www.vernonpress.com

In the Americas:
Vernon Press
1000 N West Street, Suite 1200,
Wilmington, Delaware 19801
United States

In the rest of the world:
Vernon Press
C/Sancti Espiritu 17,
Malaga, 29006
Spain

Women's Studies

Library of Congress Control Number: 2023942825

ISBN: 978-1-64889-761-0

Product and company names mentioned in this work are the trademarks of their respective owners. While every care has been taken in preparing this work, neither the authors nor Vernon Art and Science Inc. may be held responsible for any loss or damage caused or alleged to be caused directly or indirectly by the information contained in it.

Every effort has been made to trace all copyright holders, but if any have been inadvertently overlooked the publisher will be pleased to include any necessary credits in any subsequent reprint or edition.

Cover design by Vernon Press using elements designed by Freepik.

The figures that appear in this book are available for download at <https://vernonpress.com/book/1841>

Table of contents

Table of acronyms	vii
List of figures and tables	ix
Foreword	xi
Introduction	xiii
Chapter I
Gender-Based Violence Against Women: concepts, literature, and background information	1
Introduction	1
Research questions and research goal	3
The role of international bodies and governments in dealing with GBVAW in current literature: laws, policies, and government responsiveness	4
The debate on definitions: literature concerning violence perpetrated by men against women	11
Additional definitions for the book	14
Theoretical framework	18
It is all about gender	19
Chapter II
Methods of studying laws and policies on GBVAW	21
Introduction	21
Structure of the book	22
Methods	23
Field research	26

Chapter III
The international debate on GBVAW	31
Introduction	31
UN documents	33
Categories and thematic lines within UN documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW	43
CoE documents	46
Categories and thematic lines within CoE documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW	50
EU documents	53
Categories and thematic lines within EU documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW	67
From private matter to shared responsibility: the evolution of international approaches to GBVAW	70
 Chapter IV
Italian and Spanish laws and policies on GBVAW	73
Introduction	73
Italy: selected laws and policies	73
Laws and policies on Gender-Based Violence Against Women in Italy (1993-2015): a broader analysis of actors involved, and definitions adopted through interviews	80
Spain: selected laws and policies	87
Laws and policies on Gender-Based Violence Against Women in Spain (1993-2015): a broader analysis of the actors involved, and definitions adopted through interviews	92
National and transnational movements of women on GBVAW	100
 Chapter V
Comparing Italy and Spain on the level of GBVAW government responsiveness	105
Introduction	105
Comparison and discussion of the results	107

Driving change: a comparative analysis of GBVAW policies in Spain and Italy	110
Unveiling contrasting responses: GBVAW policies in times of crisis	112
Conclusions	115
Appendices	123
Appendix 1: Outline of the interview (in Italian)	123
Appendix 2: Outline of the interview (in Spanish)	125
Bibliography	127
Index	135

Table of acronyms

CoE	Council of Europe
Council of the EU	Council of the European Union
DEVAW	Declaration on the Elimination of Violence Against Women
EC	European Commission
EP	European Parliament
ESC	Economic and Social Council (UN)
EU	European Union
GA	General Assembly
GBVAW	Gender-Based Violence Against Women
GR	Government Responsiveness
GV	Gender Violence
HRC	Human Rights Council
MDGs	Millennium Development Goals
MEP(s)	Member(s) of the European Parliament
MS(s)	Member State(s)
MVAW	Male Violence Against Women
SDGs	Sustainable Development Goals
UN	United Nations
UNE	United Nations Entity for Gender Equality
VAW	Violence Against Women
VTW	Violence Towards Women

List of figures and tables

Figures

Fig. 3.1	UN Documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW: categories and thematic lines	44
Fig. 3.2	CoE Documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW: categories and thematic lines	51
Fig. 3.3	EU Documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW: categories and thematic lines	68

Tables

Table 3.1	UN: documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW (1993-2015)	34
Table 3.2	Council of Europe: documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW	47
Table 3.3	European Union: documents on VAW/GV/GBVAW	55
Table 4.1	Italy: laws and policies on VAW/GV/GBVAW (1993-2015)	74
Table 4.2	Spain: laws and policies on VAW/GV/GBVAW (1993-2015)	88
Table 5.1	GBVAW actions by international organizations and governments (1993-2015)	107

Foreword

Violence against women is not a new phenomenon in human history but it has gained scientific recognition in the last three decades (for example, the journal Violence against Women was established in 1995). The interest of sociological research has increased along with the growing intolerance of the general public toward any form of violence; but above all, it has grown due to the affirmation of women's rights. Violence against women is now a central issue on the agenda of global women's movements, and is part of a powerful discourse that, over the past three decades, has shifted from the cognitive framework of women's dignity to that of human rights. With its burden of injustice and pain, the concept of violence intersects inquiry into further social issues: family structure, child abuse, increased policy effectiveness, women's empowerment, gendered roles, and many others. This crossroads of questions about society, policy-making, and inequality challenge sociological research.

Today, violence against women is a central issue on the agenda of women's movements. Beginning with the 1993 Vienna Declaration on Human Rights and, two years later, the 1995 Beijing Conference, a new definition has emerged as part of a comprehensive narrative that holds together diverse actions (such as, for example, stalking, psychological manipulation, and femicide) that summarizes in a single category certain underlying themes: the critique of male domination, the demand for equality, the protection of victims, and the mobilization for a more just and equitable society. This set of categories is a strong program which also works as an interpretive paradigm of contemporary societies. The collective actors of the program are international and regional organizations, women's and feminist movements, and national governments, which can plan, fund, or hinder policy actions aimed at raising awareness, preventing violence, and protecting the victims.

Stellamarina Donato's book fits into this context. In particular, using a multi-method and comparative approach, the book focuses on the development of policy-making in Spain and Italy from 1993 to 2015. In the academic literature on welfare policies, these two countries are often placed in the single category of "Southern European countries." Instead, the book shows clearly why and how they differ significantly in terms of women's movement action and government responsiveness on violence.

An original feature of this book is the analysis of the "soft power" of international and regional policies on national territories. As the author writes, "language is a powerful tool [...] but it is also a place of struggle." A central part of the book is devoted to the investigation of the language of policy-making, the different theoretical frames and the practical consequences of using concept-driven terms such as gender-based violence, violence against women or male violence against women as a reference for policies. The author collects and analyzes the most relevant policy documents of the United Nations Organization, the Council of Europe, and the European Union on violence against women, showing that they greatly influence the responsiveness of national governments.

Today, violence against women is a category for reading and evaluating contemporary societies, which was unprecedented and concerned behaviors previously placed in the sphere of private actions. Policies to prevent and combat violence are the result of processes of change, involving power relations, gender behaviors and sexuality. These are slow processes by their nature because they involve a profound culture shift. Sociology and policy studies highlight how, since the 1970s, the actors in the culture shift have been feminist and women's movements that have identified violence as one of the most important issues of aggregation and identity and have become the main stakeholders urging action on policy making. But despite the growing international consensus around the nature of violence against women and its social cost, important differences remain in the policies put in place at the national level, and the speed of change is extremely different from country to country. Consequently, cross-national comparisons are useful because they illuminate actions that are taking place in one context but do not occur in the other, and they provide us with a better understanding of obstacles and facilitators toward the cultural shift which is embedded in policy change. This book is an extremely valuable tool in clarifying the broader context and multiple actors at play in violence prevention at the international, regional and national levels and it displays a methodology and theoretical elaboration which can be used for other comparative case-studies.

Consuelo Corradi,
LUMSA University, Italy

Introduction

The will to understand the lacks and flaws in the international debates and national government responsiveness on ways to counter Gender-Based Violence Against Women (GBVAW) is the question that has mostly influenced this book's research project in its aims and scope. The book is the result of my doctoral dissertation and years of research spent on uncovering policy changes and narratives when debating GBVAW. This research started at the end of 2018 when I won my doctoral fellowship at the LUMSA University in Rome and began to approach the phenomenon. I was firstly fascinated by the idea that, like many concepts in social sciences, violence is an extremely contested notion and idea; violence perpetrated against women is no exception. During the years that have led to this book, I had the chance to share ideas about concepts, definitions, policies, and best practices on the issue. I hope this book will serve the aim of informing people and scholars who want to read the main documents, laws, and policies on GBVAW, understand the best practices, and foresee any new practices to counter GBVAW occurrences.

The fight against violence toward women and gender violence is an increasingly studied and publicly debated social issue. Nevertheless, framing women's rights as human rights remains a fragile terrain globally. The 1995 Beijing declarations, for example, are constantly subjected to a multitude of ongoing political scenarios at all levels, international, regional, and national. More recent international documents and policies have attempted to bridge the gap between the demands of civil society and the understanding of governments and policymakers. However, the responses have varied based on the specific regions of the world, along with the rooted social and cultural aspects of the single countries.

During the years of this research, I have concluded that individuals must have the courage to disrupt an order that does not define – and does not satisfy, at least not anymore – the claims of reality and contemporaneity. Especially after reading the documents individually and conducting the interviews, I realized that the underlying problem of the continued lack of adequate measures to counter GBVAW is the lack of awareness by policymakers of the actual situation of women suffering different forms of violence. This lack of awareness results in either the absence of, or the mistranslation of, declarations of intent and international documents into laws, policy practices, and measures that give women a voice, as its most direct and dramatic consequence.

Even if the experience of laws and policies capable of eliminating and preventing any form of violence against women differs in the various region of the world, the language and, more precisely, the polysemy of words that link violence as an act – and series of acts – to the plural subject of women need to be analyzed in their complexity: in the dialogue between institutions, organizations, movements, and individuals, so as to be able to give timely and shared responses that eradicate a cultural practice from our lives and societies.

Taking into consideration the gravity of the issue, Gender-Based Violence Against Women stands as a critical and contemporary problem deeply entrenched in the cultural mindset and historical context of societies worldwide. By studying this phenomenon and aiming to awaken the conscience of individuals and societies alike, we embark upon a journey that seeks to comprehend why it is presented and perceived in a certain manner rather than another. However, it is important to recognize that this is merely the initial step towards enacting explicit laws and policies that comprehensively safeguard against all forms of violence. It also paves the way for the establishment of a comprehensive European and international legal framework, which unequivocally addresses GBVAW without permitting any exceptions or withdrawal clauses, as observed in certain EU Member States. Above all, it serves as a poignant reminder that women's rights and their entitlement to exist in a world free from violence are fundamental human rights that must never be silenced or disregarded again.

The general objective of this book is to understand how the international and regional documents on GBVAW, and the language and terminology used in the evolution of its global narratives, have influenced the promotion and development of national laws and policies from 1993 to 2015. The research gives special attention to a comparative analysis between Spain and Italy. Spain and Italy are both southern European countries that are part of the traditional model, where men are the primary breadwinners, and women provide secondary income and take care of household duties (Ferrera, 1996, 2005; Barbieri et al., 2015). In terms of gender development and inequality, Spain and Italy rank 25th and 29th, respectively, out of 62 nations with “extremely high human development,” according to the Gender Development Index and Gender Inequality Index. However, they are ranked 6th and 14th, respectively, in the 2023 EIGE Gender Equality Index. These countries are often considered similar because of their social and public policy choices (Montoya, 2013). However, they differ significantly in terms of their government responsiveness and ability to address Gender-Based Violence Against Women (Htun & Weldon, 2012). The main focus of this book is to describe and analyze the situation within the territories of Italy and Spain and then compare their experiences and approaches to addressing GBVAW from 1993 to 2015. As a constant thread, so as to propose a comprehensive exploration of the phenomenon, the investigation also considers the reaction and influence of civil society in fighting and preventing GBVAW, with in-depth interviews serving this aim.

Starting with the UN Resolution 48/104 of 1993, the book carefully reconstructs and qualitatively analyzes the documents of the United Nations, the Council of Europe, and the European Union, which have marked policies to prevent and eliminate GBVAW. This creates a fundamental initial overview that leads to understanding the diversity between reactions, laws, and public policies in the two case studies. Within the final objective, this book, thanks to the tools of comparative analysis, interviews, and process tracing, furthers the understanding of the main characteristics that have generated changes among laws and policies on GBVAW in Spain and Italy, within and beyond their differences and similarities.

Chapter I introduces the aims and research questions of this book. Then it draws on the role of international bodies and governments in dealing with GBVAW in literature, presents the primary definition used in the book, and finally outlines the theoretical framework.

Chapter II previews the structure of the book and gives particular attention to the methodology and single methods chosen to answer the research questions. It provides detailed information on the choices behind methodology and methods, as well as the limitations and biases that the research might have encountered.

Chapter III presents the evolution of the main UN, CoE, and EU documents on the issue, focusing on the reference categories and approaches chosen by the different international bodies and organizations from 1993 to 2015. Finally, the chapter shows the importance of framing specific social issues and argues that the way the phenomenon has been framed has either hampered, fostered, or had no effect in creating policy measures. This is developed and discussed in detail in Chapter IV, when the book deals with the comparison between the cases of Italy and Spain.

Chapter IV chronologically shows the development of the laws and policies on GBVAW as adopted in Italy and Spain by using the tools of process tracing (Collier, 2011).

Chapter V, before the conclusions, compares the two cases, using interviews with targeted individuals and the visual representation of policy evolution that allows for the comparison between the two countries of the Northern Mediterranean shore.

The results show that language is a powerful tool to change laws and policies on GBVAW and the reality of societies behind it, but it is also a place of struggle. Furthermore, they elucidate how explicit legislation is critical in establishing rights for women and that collectives, organizations, movements, and other social groups frame countries' historical paths, being a push to some countries and a fundamental supporting tool for others. Finally, social norms, legal aspects, and policy formulations change owing to the dialogue between the civil society and institutional level. Moreover, while highlighting the differences and similarities between the two countries, this book's comparative study points out that both transnational advocacy and organizations are crucial players in fostering changes in the level of government responsiveness to GBVAW.

PAGES MISSING
FROM THIS FREE SAMPLE

Bibliography

- Adler, J. S. (2003). "We've Got a Right to Fight; We're Married": Domestic Homicide in Chicago, 1875–1920. Journal of Interdisciplinary History, 34(2), 27-48. <https://doi.org/10.1162/002219503322645448>
- Aksan, N., Kısac, B., Aydın, M., & Demirbuken, S. (2009). Symbolic interaction theory. Procedia-Social and Behavioral Sciences, 1(1), 902-904. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.sbspro.2009.01.160>
- Anguera, M. T., Portell, M., Chacón-Moscoso, S., & Sanduvete-Chaves, S. (2018). Indirect observation in everyday contexts: concepts and methodological guidelines within a mixed methods framework. Front. Psychol, 9(13). <https://doi.org/10.3389/fpsyg.2018.00013>
- Artazcoz, L., Cortés, I., Puig-Barrachina, V., Benavides, F.G. Escribà-Aguir, V., & Borrell, C. (2013). Combining employment and family in Europe: the role of family policies in health. European Journal of Public Health, 24(4), 649-655. <https://doi.org/10.1093/eurpub/ckt170>
- Bacchi, C. (2012). Why study problematizations? Making politics visible. Open Journal of Political Science, 2(01), 1-8.
- Baker, P. L. & Leicht, K. T. (2017). Globalization, Gender, and Development: Toward a Theoretical Understanding of Public Gender-Based Violence Against Women and Girls. Sociology of Development, 3(4), 323-345. <https://doi.org/10.1525/sod.2017.3.4.323>
- Barbieri, P., Bozzon, R., Scherer, S. Grotti, R., & Lugo, M. (2015). The Rise of a Latin Model? Family and fertility consequences of employment instability in Italy and Spain. European Societies, 17(4), 423-446. <https://doi.org/10.1080/14616696.2015.1064147>
- Bergman, M. M. (2007). Multimethod research and mixed methods research: old wine in new bottles? Journal of mixed methods research, 1(1), 101-104. <https://doi.org/10.1177/1558689806291429>
- Bhattacharjee, A. (2012). Social Science Research: Principles, Methods, and Practices. Open University Press: USF Tampa Bay.
- Bichi, R. (2000). La società raccontata [The narrated society]. Milano: Franco Angeli.
- Bichi, R. (2007). L'intervista biografica. Una proposta metodologica [The biographical interview. A methodological proposal]. Milano: Vita e pensiero.
- Blee, K. M. & Taylor, V. (2002). Semi-structured interviewing in social movement research. In B. Klandermans & S. Stanggeborg (eds.) Methods of social movement research, (Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press), pp. 92-117.
- Bodelón, E. (2013). Violencia de género y las respuestas de los sistemas penales [Gender violence and the responses of the criminal justice system]. Buenos Aires, Ediciones Didot.
- Bourassa, C., & Bertrand, K. (2018). Exploring the Intersection Between Violence Against Women and Children from the Perspective of Parents Convicted of

- Child Homicide. Journal of Interpersonal Violence, 33(5), 1–22. <https://doi.org/10.1177/0886260518762059>
- Bourdieu, P. (2001). Masculine domination. Cambridge, UK: Polity Press.
- Brewer, J. & Hunter, A. (1989). Multimethod research: A synthesis of styles. Newbury Park, CA: Sage Publications, Inc.
- Brewer, J.D. & Hunter, A. (2006). Foundations of Multimethod Research: Synthesizing styles. Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage.
- Bunch, C. & Carrillo, R. (1991). Gender Violence: A Development and Human Rights Issue. New Brunswick: Center for Women's Global Leaders, Rutgers University.
- Burt, M. R. (1980). Cultural myths and supports for rape. Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, 38(2), 217–230. <https://doi.org/10.1037/0022-3514.38.2.217>
- Bustelo, M. (2016). Three decades of state feminism and gender equality policies in multi-governed Spain. Sex Roles, 74 (3–4), 107–120. <https://doi.org/10.1007/s11199-014-0381-9>
- Cameron Hay, M. (2016). Methods That Matter: Integrating Mixed Methods for More Effective Social Science Research. University of Chicago Press.
- Casique Casique, L. & Furegato, A. R. F. (2006). Violence against women: theoretical reflections. Revista Latino-Americana de Enfermagem, 14(16), 950–956. <https://doi.org/10.1590/S0104-11692006000600018>
- Cavarero, A. & Rastaino, F. (2002). Le filosofie femministe. Torino: Paravia scriptorium.
- Ciccone, S. (2017). Violenza maschile [Male violence]. Post-filosofie, 8, 70–81.
- Cimagalli, F. (2014). Le politiche contro la violenza di genere nel welfare che cambia. Concetti, modelli e servizi [Policies against gender-based violence in changing welfare. Concepts, models, and services]. Milano: FrancoAngeli.
- Coffey, A. (2014). Analysing Documents. In U. Flick (Ed.), The Sage Handbook of Qualitative Data Analysis. (pp. 367–380). London: Sage.
- Collier, D. (2011). Understanding Process Tracing. Political Science and Politics, 44(4), 823–30. <https://doi.org/10.1017/S1049096511001429>
- Collier, D. & Elman, C. (2008). Qualitative and Multi-Method Research: Organizations, Publication, and Reflections on Integration, in Box-Steffensmeier, J., Brady, H., Collier, D. (eds.), Oxford Handbook of Political Methodology. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 780–795.
- Conway, J. (2016). Gender and Violence: Feminist Theories, Deadly Economies and Damaging Discourse. E-International Relations. <https://www.e-ir.info/2017/11/03/gender-and-violence-feminist-theories-deadly-economies-and-damaging-discourse/>
- Corbetta, P. (1999). Metodologia e tecniche della ricerca sociale. Bologna: Il Mulino.
- Corradi, C. & Bandelli, D. (2018). Movimenti delle donne e politiche contro la violenza. Fattori politici e sociali e specificità del caso italiano [Women's movements and policies against violence. Political and social factors and specificity of the Italian case]. In Corradi C., Fernández M.L. (2018). Le donne nella società italiana: movimenti, politiche, medialità [Women in Italian society: movements, policies, mediality]. Sociologia e Politiche Sociali, 21(1), FrancoAngeli.

- Corradi, C. & Donato, S. (2019). Prevención y lucha contra la violencia de género en México e Italia: semántica de las leyes y desarrollo de las políticas en un análisis comparado [Prevention and fight against gender violence in Mexico and Italy: semantics of laws and policy development in a comparative analysis]. Cultura Latinoamericana, 29 (1), 110-136. <http://dx.doi.org/10.14718/CulturaLatinoam.2019.29.1.5>
- Corradi, C., & Donato, S. (2023). Movements' Dynamics and Government Responsiveness to Violence Against Women: A Study Set Against Political and Social Change in Spain and Italy. Violence Against Women, 10778012231177999.
- Corradi, C. & Stöckl, H. (2016). The Lessons of History. The role of the nation states and the EU in fighting violence against women in 10 European countries. Current Sociology, 64(4), 671-688. <https://doi.org/10.1177/0011392116640457>
- Della Porta, D. (2003). The women's movement, the left and the State. Continuities and changes in the Italian case. In L. A. Banaszak, K. Beckwith, and D. Rucht (eds), Women's Movements Facing the Reconfigured State, Cambridge, Cambridge University Press, pp. 48-68.
- Dogan, M. (2002). 'Strategies in Comparative Sociology', Comparative Sociology, 1(1), 63-92. <https://doi.org/10.1163/156913202317346755>
- Donato, S. (2019). The Evolution of the International Documents in Fighting Violence Against Women. In Picarella, L., Truda G. (2020). Social Systems, Cultures and Development: Fundamental Rights, Gender, Inequalities 8, Gutenberg Edizioni- Baronissi
- Donato, S. (2020). Gender-Based Violence Against Women in Intimate and Couple Relationships. The Case of Spain and Italy during the COVID-19 Pandemic Lockdown. Italian Sociological Review, 10 (3S), 869-887. <http://dx.doi.org/10.13136/isr.v10i3s.402>
- Easteal, P., Bartels, L., & Bradford, S. (2012). Language, gender and "reality": Violence against women, International Journal of Law, Crime and Justice, 40 (4), 324-337. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.ijlcj.2012.05.001>
- EIGE, European Institute for Gender Equality. Available at: <https://eige.europa.eu>
- EIGE, European Institute for Gender Equality (2021). Gender Equality Index. Available at: <https://eige.europa.eu/gender-equality-index/2021/compare-countries> (accessed 23 September 2022).
- Eslen-Ziya, H. (2007). The European Union's influence on women's activist groups' networking: a comparison between Turkey and Greece. Turkish Policy Quarterly, 6(5), 81-88.
- Esping-Andersen, G. (1990). The three worlds of welfare capitalism. Cambridge, UK: Polity Press.
- Feci, S. & Schettini, L. (2017). La violenza contro le donne nella storia. Contesti, linguaggi, politiche del diritto (secoli XV-XXI) [Violence against women in history. Contexts, languages, policies of law (XV-XXI centuries)]. Roma: Viella.
- Federici, S. (2018). Caccia alle streghe, Guerra alle donne [Witches, Witch-Hunting and Women]. Roma: Nero.
- Ferrera, M. (1996). The "Southern Model" of Welfare in Social Europe. Journal of European Social Policy, 6(1), 17-37. <https://doi.org/10.1177/095892879600600102>

- Ferrera, M. (Ed.). (2005). Welfare state reform in southern Europe: fighting poverty and social exclusion in Greece, Italy, Spain, and Portugal (Vol. 6). New York: Routledge.
- Flood, M. (2011). Involving men in efforts to end violence against women. Men and masculinities, 14(3), 358-377. <https://doi.org/10.1177/1097184X10363995>
- Fraser, N. (1990). Rethinking the Public Sphere: A Contribution to the Critique of Actually Existing Democracy. Social Text, 25/26, 56-80.
- Fraser, N. (1997). Justice interruptus: Critical Reflections on the "postsocialist" Condition. London: Routledge.
- Fraser, N. (2009). Feminism, capitalism, and the cunning of history. New Left Review, 56, 97-117.
- Friese, S. (2019). Qualitative data analysis with ATLAS. ti. London: Sage.
- García, E. (2016). La génesis de la política del gobierno central contra la violencia de género [The genesis of the central government's policy against gender violence]. In La Barbera M and Cruells M (eds) Igualdad de género y no discriminación en España: evolución, problemas y perspectivas. Madrid: CEPC, pp.395-423.
- Global Database on Violence against Women (Italy). Available at: <http://evaw-global-database.unwomen.org/en/countries/europe/italy>.
- Global Database on Violence against Women (Spain). Available at: <http://evaw-global-database.unwomen.org/en/countries/europe/spain>.
- González Álvarez, M. (2012). Violencia intrafamiliar: características descriptivas, factores de riesgo y propuesta de un plan de intervención [Domestic violence: descriptive characteristics, risk factors and proposal of an intervention plan]. Research Thesis, Universidad Complutense de Madrid, ESP.
- Goodman, H. (2001). In-depth interviews. In The handbook of social work research methods (pp. 308-319). London: Sage.
- Instituto Nacional de Estadística (INE) (2015). Estadística de Violencia de Género [Statistics on Gender Violence]. Available at: <http://goo.gl/oWIIV6>.
- Istituto Nazionale di Statistica (ISTAT). La violenza sulle donne [Violence against women]. Available at: <https://www.istat.it/it/violenza-sulle-donne>.
- Heise, L. (1998). Violence against women: An integrated, ecological framework. Violence Against Women, 4, 262-290. <https://doi.org/10.1177/1077801298004003002>
- Hesse-Biber, S. N., & Johnson, R. B. (Eds.). (2015). The Oxford handbook of multimethod and mixed methods research inquiry. Oxford University Press.
- Heyes, C. J. (2013). Feminist Solidarity Across Difference: Lessons from the Women's Movement. Oxford University Press.
- Hooks, b. (1999). Yearning: Race, Gender, and Cultural Politics. Boston: South End Press.
- Horton, J., Macve, R. & Struyven, G. (2004). Qualitative research: experience in using semi-structured interviews. In: Humphrey, Christopher and Lee, Bill H. K., (eds.) The Real-Life Guide to Accounting Research: A Behind-The-Scenes View of Using Qualitative Research Methods. Elsevier Science, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, pp. 339-358.
- Htun, M. & Weldon, L. (2012). The Civic Origins of Progressive Policy Change: Combating Violence against Women in Global Perspective 1975-2005. American

- Political Science Review* 106(3), 548-569. <https://doi.org/10.1017/S0003055412000226>
- Hunter, A. D. & Brewer, J. (2015). Designing multimethod research. In S. N. Hesse-Biber, & R. B. Johnson (Eds.), The Oxford Handbook of Multimethod and Mixed Methods Research Inquiry (Oxford Library of Psychology) (1st edition ed., pp. 185-205). Oxford University Press.
- Jewkes, R., Flood, M., & Lang, J. (2015). From work with men and boys to changes of social norms and reduction of inequities in gender relations: A conceptual shift in prevention of violence against women and girls. The Lancet, 382(9881), 255-266.
- Kantola, J. (2006). Feminists Theorize the State. New York: Palgrave MacMillan.
- Kantola, J. (2010). Gender and the European Union. London: Palgrave-McMillan.
- Kelly, L., Lombard, N., & Ward, I. (2005). Silence in the field: Challenges and dilemmas of qualitative research addressing gender, violence and abuse. Qualitative Sociology Review, 1(2), 6-26.
- King, N. & Horrocks, C., & Brooks, J. (2018). Interviews in qualitative research. London: Sage.
- Kinyanda, E., Weiss, H. A., Mungherera, M., Onyango-Mangen, P., Ngabirano, E., Kajungu, R., ... Patel, V. (2017). Gender-Based Violence and Armed Conflict: A Community-Informed Socioecological Conceptual Model From Northeastern Uganda. Psychology of Violence, 7(2), 267-277. <https://doi.org/10.1037/vio0000074>
- Kuckartz, U. (2014). Qualitative text analysis: A guide to methods, practice and using software. Los Angeles: SAGE.
- Kuckartz, U. (2019) Qualitative Text Analysis: A Systematic Approach. In: Kaiser G., Presmeg N. (eds) Compendium for Early Career Researchers in Mathematics Education. ICME-13 Monographs. Springer, Cham. https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-030-15636-7_8
- Kvale, S. (2007). Doing interviews. London: Sage.
- Lacity, M. C. & Janson, M. A. (1994). Understanding Qualitative Data: A Framework of Text Analysis Methods. Journal of Management Information Systems, 11(2), 137-155. <https://doi.org/10.1080/07421222.1994.11518043>
- Lagostena Bassi, T. Cappiello, A. A., & Rech, G. (1997). Violenza sessuale 20 anni per una legge [Sexual violence 20 years for a law]. Presidenza del Consiglio dei ministri, Commissione nazionale per la parità e le pari opportunità tra uomo e donna.
- Leavy, P. (Ed.). (2014). The Oxford handbook of qualitative research. New York: USA, Oxford University Press.
- Lombardo, E. & León, M. (2014). Políticas de igualdad de género y sociales En España: origen, desarrollo y desmantelamiento en un contexto de crisis económica [Gender equality and social policies in Spain: origin, development and dismantling in the context of economic crisis]. Investigaciones feministas, 5. http://dx.doi.org/10.5209/rev_INFE.2014.v5.47986
- Lombardo, E., & Forest, M. (2015). The Europeanization of gender equality policies: A discursive- sociological approach. Comparative European Politics, 13(2), 222-239. https://doi.org/10.1057/9780230355378_1

- Lombardo, E. & Rolandsen Agustín, L. (2016). Intersectionality in European Union policymaking: the case of gender-based violence. Politics, 36(4), 364–373. <https://doi.org/10.1177/0263395716635184>
- Losito, G. (2007). L'analisi del contenuto nella ricerca sociale [Content analysis in social research]. Milano: Franco Angeli
- McBride, D. E., Mazur, A. G., Lovenduski, J., Outshoorn, J., Sauer, B., & Guadagnini, M. (2010). The Politics of State Feminism: Innovation in Comparative Research. Temple University Press.
- Maron Young, I. (2000). Inclusion and Democracy. Oxford University Press.
- Mazur, A. G. (2016). Toward the Systematic Study of Feminist Policy in Practice: An Essential First Step. Journal of Women, Politics & Policy, 38(1), 64–83. <https://doi.org/10.1080/1554477X.2016.1198210>
- Merry, S. E. (2009). Gender violence: a cultural perspective. Chichester: Wiley-Blackwell.
- Ministerio del Interior, VioGén. Available at: <http://www.interior.gob.es/web/servicios-al-ciudadano/violencia-contra-la-mujer/estadisticas>.
- Montoya, C. (2013). From Global to Grassroots: The European Union, Transnational Advocacy, and Combating Violence against Women. New York: Oxford University Press.
- Montoya, C. (2009). International Initiative and Domestic Reforms: European Union Efforts to Combat Violence against Women. Politics & Gender, 5(3), 325–348. <https://doi.org/10.1017/S1743923X0999016X>
- Morse, J. M. (1997). Completing a Qualitative Project: Details and Dialogue. Thousand Oaks: Sage.
- Morse, J. M. (2003). Principles of mixed methods and multi-method research design. In C. Teddlie, & A. Tashakkori (Eds.), Handbook of mixed methods in social and behavioral research (pp. 189–208). Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage Publication.
- Nayak, M. & Suchland, S. (2006). Gender Violence and Hegemonic Projects. International Feminist Journal of Politics, 8(4), 467–485. <https://doi.org/10.1080/14616740600945024>
- Ngozi Adichie, C. (2014). We Should All Be Feminists. New York: Harper Collins Publishers.
- Nind M., Coverdale, A., & Meckin, R. (2021). Changing Social Research Practices in the Context of Covid-19: Rapid Evidence Review. Project Report. NCRM.
- Parmegiani, S. & Prevedello, M. (2019). Femminismo e femminismi nella letteratura italiana dall'Ottocento al XXI secolo [Feminism and feminisms in Italian literature from the nineteenth to the twenty-first century]. Firenze: Società Editrice Fiorentina.
- Pateman, C. (1988). The Sexual Contract. Stanford University Press.
- Pavolini, E., León, M, Guillén, A. M., & Ascoli, U. (2015). From austerity to permanent strain? The EU and welfare state reform in Italy and Spain. Comparative European Politics, 13(1), 56–76. <https://doi.org/10.1057/cep.2014.41>
- Pettit, B., & Lee, M. (2018). Domestic violence victimization and women's health: The mediating role of depression and post-traumatic stress disorder symptoms. Journal of Interpersonal Violence, 33(9), 1465–1487.

- Renzetti, C. M. (2018). Feminist criminology. In J. Mitchell Miller (Ed.), The Oxford handbook of criminological theory (pp. 325-343). Oxford University Press.
- Roggeband, C. (2012). Shifting Policy Responses to Domestic Violence in the Netherlands and Spain (1980-2009). Violence Against Women, 18(7), 784–806. <https://doi.org/10.1177/1077801212455359>
- Rossi-Doria A (2005). Ipotesi per una storia che verrà [Hypothesis for a history to come]. In: Bertilotti T. & Scattigno A. (eds) Il femminismo degli anni Settanta. Roma: Viella, pp. 1-23.
- Roth, S. (Ed.). (2008). Gender Politics in the Expanding European Union: Mobilization, Inclusion, Exclusion. Berghahn Books.
- Ruiz-Pérez, I., & Pastor-Moreno, G. (2020). Medidas de contención de la violencia de género durante la pandemia de COVID-19 [Gender-based violence containment measures during the COVID-19 pandemic]. Gaceta sanitaria, S0213-9111. <https://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.gaceta.2020.04.005>
- Saldana, J. (2015). The coding manual for qualitative researchers (3rd ed.). Thousand Oaks: SAGE.
- Schapp W. (2017). Reti di Storie. L'essere dell'uomo e della cosa [Networks of Stories. The being of the man and the thing] (a cura di D. Nuccilli). Milano: Mimesis.
- Seawright, J. (2016), Multi-Method Social Science: Combining Qualitative and Quantitative Tools (Strategies for Social Inquiry), Cambridge, Cambridge University Press.
- Smit, B. (2002). Atlas. ti for qualitative data analysis. Perspectives in education, 20(3), 65-75.
- Smith, J. K. (1983). Quantitative versus qualitative research: An attempt to clarify the issue. Educational Researcher, 12(3), 6-13. <https://doi.org/10.3102/0013189X012003006>
- Swanton, B. (2019). The emergence of gender violence as a policy problem, in L. Sheperd (eds.), Handbook on Gender and Violence, Cheltenham, Edward Elgar, 160-172.
- Taylor R. & Jasinski, J. L. (2011). Femicide and the Feminist Perspective. Homicide Studies, 15(4), 341-362. <https://doi.org/10.1177/1088767911424541>
- Threlfall M., Cousins C., & Valiente C. (2005). Gendering Spanish democracy. New York: Routledge.
- UNDP, United Nations Development Program (2019). Dashboard Board 3 Women's Empowerment. Available at: <http://hdr.undp.org/en/content/dashboard-3-women's-empowerment-0> (accessed 23 September 2022).
- Valiente, C. (2002). An Overview of Research on Gender in Spanish Society. Gender & Society, 16(6), 767–792. <https://doi.org/10.1177/089124302237887>
- Valiente C. (2005). Combating violence against women. In: Threlfall M., Cousins C. & Valiente C. (eds). Gendering Spanish Democracy. New York: Routledge, pp. 101-24.
- Valiente, C. (2008). Spain at the vanguard in European gender equality policies. In S. Roth (Ed.), Gender politics in the expanding European Union: Mobilization, inclusion, exclusion (pp. 101–117). Berghahn.

- Van Esch, P. & Van Esch, L. (2013). Justification of a qualitative methodology to investigate the emerging concept: The dimensions of religion as underpinning constructs for mass media social marketing campaigns. Journal of Business Theory and Practice, 1(2), 214-243.
- Verloo, M. M. (2005). Displacement and empowerment: Reflections on the concept and practice of the Council of Europe approach to women's rights. Social Politics, 12(3), 321-341.
- Walby, S. (1990). Theorizing Patriarchy. Oxford: Basil Blackwell.
- Walby, S. (2004). The European Union and Gender Equality: Emergent Varieties of Gender Regime. Social Politics: International Studies in Gender, State & Society, 11(1), 4-29. <https://doi.org/10.1093/sp/jxh024>
- Walby, S., Towers, J., Balderston, S., Corradi, C., Francis, B., Heiskanen, M. & Strid, S. (2017). The concept and measurement of violence. Bristol: Bristol University Press.
- Weldon, S. L. (2002). Protest, Policy, and the Problem of Violence Against Women. Pittsburgh: The University of Pittsburgh Press.
- Weldon, S. L. (2006). Women's Movements, Identity Politics and Policy Impact: A study of policies on violence against women in the 50 United States. Political Research Quarterly, 59(1), 111-122. <https://doi.org/10.1177/106591290605900110>
- Weldon, S. L. & Htun, M. (2013). Feminist Mobilisation and Progressive Policy Change: Why Governments Take Action to Combat Violence Against Women. Gender & Development 21(2), 231-47. <https://doi.org/10.1080/13552074.2013.802158>
- Wolff, S. (2004). Analysis of document and records. In Flick, U., von Kardoff, E., & Steinke, I. (Eds.), A companion to qualitative research (pp. 284-289). London: SAG.
- Woodyatt, C. R., Finneran, C. A., & Stephenson, R. (2016). In-Person Versus Online Focus Group Discussions: A Comparative Analysis of Data Quality. Qualitative health research, 26(6), 741-749. <https://doi.org/10.1177/1049732316631510>
- World Health Organization. (2013). Global and regional estimates of violence against women: Prevalence and health effects of intimate partner violence and non-partner sexual violence. World Health Organization.
- York, M. (2011). Gender Attitudes and Violence against Women. El Paso, LFB Scholarly Pub LLC.

Index

A

Amsterdam Treaty, 8
Ana Orantes, 89, 98
ATLAS.ti, 25

B

Beijing Conference, 2
Bourdieu, Pierre, 13, 18

C

Capacity building, 5
Categories, 26
Ciccione, Stefano, 12, 18, 128
Cimagalli, Folco, 14
Circeo case, 7
Coercion, 5
Corradi, Consuelo, 3, 4, 18, 22,
100, 109, 110, 122, 128, 129, 134
Council of Europe, 2, 24, 25, 46,
49, 50, 61, 117
COVID-19 pandemic, 29

D

Daphne programme, 9, 61, 118
Della Porta, Donatella, 10, 19, 102,
129
Deviance, 84

E

Ecological approach, 12
Economic and Social Council, 33
EIGE, 23
EU framework, 112

EU framework of policies, 105
European Union, 53
Explicit legislation, 73

F

Feci, Simona, 7, 8, 18, 22, 31, 39,
48, 59, 75, 129
Feminist activism, 5
Feminist ideas, 5
Femocrats, 101, 109, 111
Francoist dictatorship, 4, 9, 109,
118

G

GBVAW policies, 15
Gender invisibility, 14
Gender mainstreaming, 8
Gender Violence, 11
Gender-Based Violence Against
Women, 12
General Assembly, 33
Government, 15
Government Responsiveness, 18

I

Index of Government
Responsiveness, 5
International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against
Women, 2
International norms, 5, 21, 54
International organizations, 5
International Women's Day, 1
Interpretative paradigm, 21

Istanbul Convention, 2, 49, 50, 67,
78, 79, 80, 82, 95, 96, 97, 101,
108, 110, 117, 118
Italy, 73

K

Kantola, Johanna, 7, 18, 54, 58,
101, 131

L

Laws, 15
Lombardo, Emanuela, 9, 19, 54,
109, 131, 132

M

Male Violence Against Women,
12
Masculine dominance, 13
#Me Too, 13
Montoya, Celeste, 2, 4, 6
Multimethod research, 23

N

1996 Law, Norms against sexual violence, 74
NiUnaMenos, 13
Norm dissemination, 5

P

Policy making, 5
Policy/policies, 15
Process tracing, 27

Q

Qualitative research, 21

R

Rocco code, 8
Roggeband, Conny, 7

S

Schettini, Laura, 7, 8, 18, 22, 31,
39, 48, 59, 75, 129
Security Council, 33
Semantic drift, 25
Sexual violence, 41, 77, 108, 111
Social movements, 2, 4, 5, 6, 9, 112
Spain, 87, 92, 108
State, 14
State feminism, 6, 106, 108, 111
Stöckl, Heidi, 4, 18, 100, 122, 129
Sustainable Development Goals,
22, 43
Swanton, Ben, 2, 7, 18, 71, 133
Symbolic violence, 13

T

Transnational advocacy, 4
2004 Law, Comprehensive protection measures against gender violence, 90

U

United Nations, 33

V

Valiente, Celia, 9
VAW policy, 5
Vienna Declaration, 2
Violence Against Women., 11
Violencia(s) machista(s), 12

W

Walby, Sylvia, 1, 2, 12, 14, 22, 39,
55, 58, 81, 109, 134
Weldon, S.Laurel, 19
Women only approach, 14
Women's policy agencies, 6
Women's rights, 2
World Health Organization, 1

Z

Zapatero, José Luis Rodríguez, 6, 9, 90, 91, 92, 95, 106, 111