Vice President, Hearst

Executive Vice President & Chief Operating Officer,
Hearst Health

Executive Chairman, FDB

Executive Chairman, MHK

Chuck Tuchinda is the executive vice president, chief operating officer and deputy group head of Hearst Health, providing senior leadership for Hearst's healthcare businesses in the U.S. and globally, including FDB (First Databank), Zynx Health, MCG, Homecare Homebase, MHK and QGenda. He also serves as executive chairman of FDB, executive chairman of MHK and vice president of Hearst.

The mission of Hearst Health is to guide the most important care moments by delivering vital information into the hands of everyone who touches a person's health journey. Care guidance from Hearst Health reaches the majority of people in the U.S.

From the outset of his career, Tuchinda has invented and commercialized solutions that leverage modern technology to improve clinical decision-making. His expertise is in developing scalable and sustainable business models for novel technology-enabled clinical knowledge.

Tuchinda became president of FDB in 2014, leading the company in double-digit growth and expanding its business into adjacent markets. He first joined Hearst in 2010 as the chief innovation officer for healthcare, after holding a variety of executive roles at Eclipsys (now Allscripts) and leading several successful entrepreneurial endeavors.

A board-certified internal medicine physician, Tuchinda completed both his medical doctorate and residency training at Johns Hopkins. He received a master's degree in business administration from Harvard Business School and a biomedical engineering degree from Harvard College.
